Comment:

It seems like Prime Minister Davutoğlu surprised everyone by organizing congress and declaring that he would not nominate himself president in the congress. He threw everyone to a curve. Really nobody expected such a result. Yes, everyone knew that there were some conflicts between Erdoğan and Davutoğlu. But nobody expected such an outcome. We observe that the conflict between Erdoğan and Davutoğlu is mainly on the subject of the Presidency System. Other topics aren't as important. It all really comes down to the subject of the Presidency System.

The Presidency subject is essential for Erdoğan-America. Seeing the presidency topic as a personal issue of Erdoğan would be wrong. The chief architect of this system is America. Instead of the English parliamentary system, America wants the presidency system which will unconditionally serve its purposes in Turkey. America has even tried to accomplish this with Özal in his presidential term. But after Özal's death America postponed this project. And now, America wants to accomplish this with Erdoğan. After Erdoğan's recent visit to America, this topic is being pushed again and tried to form a public opinion. From this we understand that America is applying pressure on Erdoğan to speed the process.

In fact the crisis between Erdoğan and Davutoğlu is not real. Yes, Davutoğlu may have wanted to do some things in the party and Erdoğan may have not allowed it. But in the end they both work towards the same goals in the American politics. The conflict is not on fundamental topics, it is only on how to apply them and the methods used. Davutoğlu while also wanting the presidency system just wanted to spread the conversion into more time. Erdoğan became uncomfortable of this and brought Davutoğlu politely down. Erdoğan wants the presidency system as soon as possible. He is even putting the topic of a "president with party affiliation" on the agenda. This may be the reasons the "Pelican File" has been brought up to the public by a pro-Erdoğan in order to make Davutoğlu resign from the presidency of AKP and from being Prime Minister. Because of this file, Davutoğlu has been declared a scape goat and brought down. Davutoğlu is presented the sole responsible over some of the policies.

As for the demeanour of the English before these incidents, the political extension of the English, President of CHP (People's Republic Party) has threatened that they would do everything in their power and stated that the presidency system would not be implemented without drawing blood. If Erdoğan-America somehow realizes the presidency system, the English influence upon Turkey will end definitely. That is why the English will use every means available to them to prevent the Presidency System from being implemented in Turkey. It is even possible to relate the terrorism and violence acts to this. So even though every hint and lobby point to Minister of Transportation Binali Yıldırım as President of the party and Prime Minister in 22th of May Congress, it actually doesn't matter who becomes Prime Minister. All of the presidents and Prime Ministers that are going to come after this will be completely for show. It won't oppose Erdoğan in anything and won't do anything outside his orders.

Summary, both the English parliamentary system and the American model presidency System are un-Islamic Systems. Nothing good has come from these to the Ummah and nothing good will ever come. Both systems are colonialist Kuffar's systems to prevent Islam, in other words Khilafah's return to power. That is why Muslims should denounce all human made systems and should join the struggle to the reestablishment of the Khilafah Rashidah (Caliphate) upon the method of the Prophethood that will be the salvation of all humanity.
